

“We both felt that the weddings we have traveled to have been much more memorable because you get to spend so much time with family and friends.”

With such talented family members, the dinner party included many memorable moments: the mother-son and father-daughter dances were simultaneously performed; the bride's sister, Rhonda Ross Kendrick, sang a personal song she wrote for Chudney; her brothers led the toasts for the evening; and Diana serenaded the newlyweds. "It was important for us to have our families involved in our big day," asserts Chudney, who feels blessed to have such talented family members. "We also danced all night long!"

confirms Joshua. "Guests still tell us that it's the most dancing they've ever done at a wedding."

To keep energy high, snacks, cocktails, and sweet offerings were available throughout the celebration. The sweetest components of the dessert selections were the cake toppers: Callaway's beloved "Mama People" and "Dada People" Fisher-Price Little People® sat atop the confection. "And now they're back in her playroom!" laughs Chudney.

NICOLE PALACIOS

Though the couple had a First Look and spent time with their bridal party – even coolly walking the town streets for memorable portraits – prior to the ceremony, it was an emotional moment as they met beneath the grand structure with their immediate families. “It was a really amazing feeling finally seeing Max that day. With all the stress of getting ready and the tight timeline, I felt a huge sense of calm once I saw my husband-to-be – like, ‘Phew, now I can relax and enjoy the rest of the day!’” the bride says.

After Hilary and Max said their “I dos” and completed the traditional Jewish wedding customs, the newlyweds led the way to an area for cocktails. A section of the patio had been beautifully decorated with an elaborate white bar bedecked in fresh flowers. Tall tables were enveloped in greenery and florals, and statuesque orchid arrangements stood proudly on each end of the bar surface. Additional tables made of rose gold were also available for guests’ comfort, as well as a lovely component of the design scheme. An unexpected décor element was the collection of dangling calla lilies seen above the escort card table.